Living History day at Simon Marks

Last Friday was amazing and you all helped to make it so. It was wonderful to see you all in classrooms and sharing your living history with us. Your stories about your childhood, the difference of schools and experiences were fantastic. Some of you shared your journeys into the United Kingdom, your hardships and your joys.

You were well prepared and some of you brought along presentations and artifacts from your childhoods.

You shared a history that is so valuable to our children. A history that we cannot get from books. A History that you experienced and can talk about first hand.

We are extremely privileged to have families that can share their histories with us.

We are so culturally rich and between us all we span right across the Earth with our experiences.

Our children will use your stories to help them with their creative writing, and historical work.

A huge thank you to everyone who joined us, both as presenters and as part of the audience. You all made this day really special.

Ms Metin– Headteacher and the Jewish Studies team.
